

Rich Weissman Bio – The Leadership Mosaic

Rich Weissman, an experienced supply chain management professional and educator, works with companies to create scalable and sustainable supply chain strategies. His areas of expertise include creating strategic sourcing plans, managing and improving supplier performance, continuous improvement and process management, negotiation, and transportation and logistics management.

Rich teaches operations management, supply chain management, marketing, and economics for Endicott College, Northeastern University and Lesley University, and is a corporate trainer for Cape Cod Community College's Center for Corporate and Professional Education. He has more than twenty-five years of hands-on experience in all facets of procurement and supply chain management for Boston area high technology companies. He is past president of the Purchasing Management Association of Boston (ISM-GB) and the recipient of the Harry J. Graham Memorial Award, the highest honor bestowed by the Association. He has lifetime certification in purchasing management from the Institute for Supply Management.

Rich holds an MS in Management from Lesley University and a BA in Economics from Rutgers University. He writes and speaks extensively on issues impacting the global supply chain.